

MEDIUM PROJECT STREAM 2021 (MPS.21) EVALUATION REPORT

Executive Summary

Creation's Medium Project Stream 2021 (MPS.21) grant recipients focused their projects on empowering Indigenous youth, emphasizing community engagement, cultural revitalization and connecting with Elders. Medium Project Stream funding enabled Youth Leaders to support Indigenous youth through employment opportunities in their programs. The grant also played a crucial role in increasing cultural revitalization, making programming more accessible, and providing mentorship opportunities. The projects that grantees led built a sense of community for Indigenous youth -- they promoted cultural engagement, inclusivity, and boosted the confidence of the young participants. Despite encountering challenges related to securing project supplies, funding, and community losses, the grantees found effective ways to overcome these difficulties by establishing partnerships, utilizing community support, hiring more staff, and fostering open communication and teamwork. Youth Leaders reported gaining valuable skills and insights in their projects, primarily focused on cultural awareness, confidence, leadership, and employment skills. Grantees achieved project outcomes that included empowered and connected youth and communities, cultural revitalization, and the facilitation of intergenerational relationships.
